About Augen Gold

Augen Gold is a gold exploration company with 24,335 hectares of recently acquired mining claims in the southern Swayze Greenstone Belt, including the formerly producing Jerome Gold Mine. The claims cover a 45 kilometer long section of the Ridout Deformation Zone, believed to be the western extension of the Kirkland Lake-Larder Lake Break. The geological setting is comparable to the major gold camps of Timmins and Kirkland Lake, and the claims contain numerous gold showings that have received very little historical exploration. Augen Gold is the first company to have assembled such a coherent ground position and has performed a detailed airborne geophysical survey over the whole area, and the Company’s sampling program has confirmed the historically reported gold values. The correlation of many gold showings with geophysical features indicates excellent potential for the discovery of additional deposits. The Company’s objectives are to aggressively explore the gold showings that correlate with geophysical anomalies, continue resource definition at the Jerome Mine, and to expand its property portfolio with highly prospective mineral assets.
